In addition to the system's academic achievements, SCS takes pride in its fine arts and athletic programs. All students have the opportunity to hone their skills in music, art and theatre classes. The system also offers more than a dozen team sports.

SCS prioritizes creating a safe environment for students to thrive. The system has a student resource officer partnership with Sylacauga Police Department, an updated security camera system and other measures in place for school safety.

The driving force behind the school system's accomplishments continues to be its teachers and the many who support them. SCS is united in offering state-of-the-art resources, well-maintained facilities, transportation and meals to its students daily.

Helping students realize their full potential through extended learning experiences remains at the forefront of the SCS mission.

Sylacauga City Schools (SCS) is committed to encouraging, equipping, and empowering all students to own their future by providing diverse pathways to an excellent education.

SCS goes above and beyond to offer students a variety of world-class educational experiences. The school system has exceptional strength in career and technical education (CTE) through four award-winning CTE programs: Business; Health Science; Human Service; and Audio/Visual Technology. These programs create direct pathways for students into the workforce and degree programs.

Students are afforded the opportunity to take dual enrollment courses in partnership with Auburn University, Central Alabama Community College, Jacksonville State University, and the University of Alabama. In 2022, graduates from SCS accumulated over $1.6M in scholarships to 31 different colleges and universities.

Sylacauga, also known as “The Marble City” for its development atop a solid deposit of what is claimed to be the finest marble in the world, is located in the southernmost part of Talladega County. The east Alabama city has a population of about 12,657 and runs approximately 20 square miles.

Sylacauga sits on the edge of the majestic Talladega National Forest and the Appalachian foothills. It is an easy drive to three metro areas: 40 miles southeast of Birmingham, 59 miles northwest of Auburn, and 56 miles north of Montgomery.

The city of Sylacauga is the perfect place to immerse oneself in nature with its scenic hiking trails, forests and waterfalls. The city’s proximity to Lay Lake and Lake Martin, one the nation’s largest man-made lakes, offers an abundance of outdoor recreation such as swimming, boating, water skiing, camping and golfing. Sylacauga's seasonal farmer’s market serves as a local hub for residents and visitors to indulge in picnic foods, homemade jams and fresh produce.

Although a small-town, Sylacauga's high-achieving school system, friendly atmosphere and cultural abundance have contributed to the city’s six-time recognition as one of the “100 Best Communities for Young People” by America’s Promise Alliance.
